Algiers Reports Americans Boost Prisoner Total To 16,000 Mark

Messina Virtually Bombed Off Map By Hard Hitting United Nations Airmen

By International News Service

Thirteen key Sicilian towns and more than 18,000 Axis prisoners were officially listed in Allied hands today as enemy troops mustered last-ditch resistance for a major stand at Catania and Allied war planes virtually bombed Messina off the map.

Rapidly-advancing American, Canadian and British troops, supported by newly-landed parachute units, raced forward at top speed towards Catania and other objectives on Sicily under cover of aerial bombardment that reached a new peak of intensity.

The Italian mainland port of Naples and adjoining airfields at Foggia and elsewhere were pounded by fleets of American and British planes paralyzing Axis counter moves against the Allied "invasion of liberation."

Yanks Capture 16,000

Latest official toll placed enemy prisoners in American hands alone at more than 12,000. Algiers sources, however, placed the total figure at more than 20,000, with 16,000 taken by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's United States Seventh Army at 16,000.

Gen. Esienhower's communique said:

"Catania airfield has again been heavily bombarded from the sea.

"Strong naval forces continue to lend support to troops on the right flank of our army. One of our destroyers operating north of Augusta has sunk one "E" (motor torpedo) boat and probably damaged or sunk a second.

"The work of disembarking troops and their supplies is proceeding smoothly.

"Bitter fighting had taken place, particularly in the eastern sector, where the Eighth Army (British) made additional progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of ground.

"Severe losses were inflicted on the enemy in the western sector.

"The Seventh Army (American forces under command of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.,) advanced several miles across difficult hill terrain and captured further important sectors.

Towns Captured

"The following towns can now be added to the list taken by Allied forces:

"Canicatti, Bagni, Vizzinni, Vittoria, Niscemi, Campobello, Palma Di Pottechiare, Sortino, Modica, Comiso, Biscia, Riesi and Canicattina.

"The speed of the advance is very satisfactory. But transport of supporting weapons is of necessity limited during present stages.

"Little or no damage has been

Fortified Cities Of Sicily In Bad Shape, Roosevelt Film Shows

BY RICHARD TREGASKIS

AN ADVANCED ALLIED COMMAND POST, July 16—Young Col. Elliott Roosevelt is pretty certain the chief fortified cities of Sicily still remaining in Axis hands are in very bad shape.

So am I.

This correspondent has seen American bombing planes make wreckage and rubble of Japanese bases in the Far East. But that was nothing to compare with the devastation wrought on Mussolini's citadels on the north coast of Sicily.

Col. Roosevelt took me along on one of the photographic missions he carries out almost daily as head of this vital branch of the United States armed forces in the Mediterranean theatre. He is commanding officer of all this camera reconnaissance. But that doesn't mean sitting at a desk.

What his lenses have snapped and his films recorded already are best recorded in his own words.

"Messina looks like it had been wiped off the map," he said.

"Trapani is in the same fix."

"At night we can see fires just covering the island—all of it," he said.

During the dark early morning hours I accompanied Col Roosevelt on one of his night photographic missions, and saw some of the fires and other evidence of the manner in which terrific bombardment is disrupting the enemy.

Interviewed in the officers' mess just before the flight, Col. Roosevelt said:

"Our bombers have been continually laying down bomb barrages in front of our advancing troops, breaking enemy communications and keeping Axis ports and airdromes out of operation. Port towns particularly have been taking a heavy beating."

He said his group was making many missions daily, photographing changes in the Sicilian battlefield, making it possible to follow the daily progress of Allied troops through his "album" of pictures.

He declared the enemy is moving in reinforcements day and night as rapidly as possible, continuing:

"I believe they are using all the resources they have, but under our terrific bombardment their communications are hard hit. Our attack goes on day and night. In the daytime we can see smoke and flames rising from bombed-out places, and at night we can pick out bomb flashes in all parts of the island as our planes go into the battle.

"We can follow the progress of our forces by the movement of vehicles along the roads."

Col. Roosevelt said enemy anti-aircraft opposition is light and there are few Axis fighters in Sicily—and our experience during this morning's mission confirms this.

MEET TO PLAN CANNERY AID

House-To-House Canvass Considered To Obtain Work Volunteers

A meeting is being called next Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the U. S. Employment Service office in the court house, to be presided over by Mayor Ben H. Gordon, at which time efforts will be made to line up workers who will help canners of the district to overcome a serious manpower shortage. Corn pack will start soon, and canners are afraid that their supply of laborers will be far short of the number required to process the food. Aid will be needed later in the year for other work, also, cannery operators declare.

All persons interested in the canneries, operators of the factories, local officials and others are being urged to attend the meeting. Heads of various services and civic clubs are also being invited to participate since local organizatons will be called on to go to the aid of the factories.

It is beng suggested that a house to house canvass be conducted, possibly by Civilian Defense volunteers, to obtain the name of every man or woman who will be available for work. Information sought will be the hours and days a volunteer will be available for service in the factories.

"Men and women, boys and girls, who have never worked before in the canneries will be called on to put their shoulders to the wheel this season in order to get the corn pack processed," Mayor Gordon declared in calling the meeting.

WALLACE FIRED; FDR SEEKS NEW RUNNING MATE

Vice President Stripped Of Far Flung Duties In Economic Field

JONES ALSO REBUKED

Public Battle Over War Stockpiles Brings Quick Action By President

WASHINGTON, July 16—President Roosevelt has given notice to the nation that he desires a new running-mate if he seeks a fourth term in the 1944 elections.

The President shattered all historical precedents by "firing" Vice President Henry A. Wallace as chief of the Board of Economic Warfare in his settlement of the dispute between Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones over strategic materials.

Jones also was relieved of authority as the President stepped in to put an end to the heated quarrel between the two high administration officials over stockpiling of strategic war materials. Mr. Roosevelt harshly rebuked his vice president and cabinet officer by creating a new super agency to carry out foreign economic affairs.

By his rebuke to Wallace and Jones, the President warned all war agency heads to "work together or get out." He declared that he would not stand for public quarrels of officials in the midst of war.

Mr. Roosevelt's executive order creating the office of economic warfare, a new agency, abolished the board of economic warfare, of which Wallace was chairman. It also transferred the subsidiaries of Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corporation to the office now headed by Leo T. Crowley, who

BOY'S KNIFE GOES TO WAR; LANDS WITH NEIGHBOR

CHICAGO, July 16 — Shortly after last Christmas 12-year-old Pete Fogle of surburban Winnetka contributed a $3 hunting knife to the collection that was being assembled for the American troops fighting the Japs in the South Pacific.

On its handle he inked his name and address. Today he displayed a letter from "somewhere in New Guinea" in which the writer said that "the chance which sent your knife to me undoubtedly was one in a million."

The letter was from Marvin H. Brand, member of a bomber squadron. He said the men of his squadron had been lined up and handed a knife apiece from the shipment that had come in. The remarkable coincidence lay in the fact that the Brand family lives right next door to Fogles in Winnetka.

CIRCLEVILLE HAS COMPLETE DAY OF CONFUSION

Thursday was a crazy day for Circleville folk, who were kept in a dither throughout much of it by strange doings.

In the first place work was started on replacement of the antiquated courthouse town clock. From the outside of the courthouse workmen could not be observed in the tower, so there was no way for scores of townspeople to know why the hands on the clock should be carrying on as they did from morning until evening. Some persons were of the opinion that someone might not have liked the Fast Time schedule on which the clock is operating, so decided to move the hands around so that everyone would be confused.

The clock was not the only confusing item in the day's news.

Container Corporation officials notified police authorities, firemen, telephone office and several other key points that they intended to do some minor correcting of their factory whistle, and they did. But a good many persons didn't know why the whistle kept sounding during the afternoon. Many wondered if there might have been a fire at the plant; others thought a daylight air raid alert signal was being sounded.

And to make it more confusing, there was no rain Thursday.

WILLKIE WOULD TEST STRENGTH ON PRESIDENCY

NEW YORK, July 16—Wendell Willkie, the G. O. P. candidate in 1940, would like to run again in 1944 and as a first test of his strength would like to stand against Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune in Illinois primaries.

Replying to a question asking if he had seen reports that McCormick might run in Illinois primaries for the Republican nomination, Willkie replied:

"I certainly hope it is true. For then I could really make the issue clear—the greatest issue of the day — American relations to the rest of the world and liberal internal domestic policies."

McCormick's candidacy is sponsored by the Republican National Revival Committee, announced as the "Nationalist Party" in American politics.

Plight Of Japanese On Kiska Grows Steadily Worse As Ouster Nears

WASHINGTON, July 16—The plight of the isolated Japanese garrison on Kiska grew steadily worse today in the face of America's sea-air offensive which probably is the prelude to a final drive to sweep the enemy from his last stronghold in the Aleutians.

On four separate occasions during the last 10 days, screaming shells from American warships pounded Japanese beach defenses and installations at Gertrude cove and around Kiska harbor.

In addition, U. S. army bombers have raided the Japanese a dozen times this month, but bad weather has hampered operations although America has one airfield only 70 miles from Kiska.

The frequency of naval bombardments since July 6 indicated that the warships moved in to augment the aerial attacks and possibly to soften up beach defenses for the eventual invasion by U. S. forces.

American forces now are working against time and weather in the drive to crush the Japs on Kiska. Unless they land within the next 30 or 40 days, the chances are slim that America can recapture the island before Winter closes in late in September or early in October.

While some military and naval experts have contended that the invasion of Kiska would come this Summer, others have held to the theory it would be better to spare American lives until the enemy could be weakened further by the sea-air blockade.

Strength of the Jap forces on Kiska has been estimated at 10,000 and they are believed to have large stores of supplies hidden under rocky ground where they are fairly safe from aerial assault.

While the Japanese have been cut off from ship contact with their home bases, it was presumed that some supplies have been moving in by submarines.

ONE TIME "BIG SHOT" DIES AS FORGOTTEN MAN

CHICAGO, July 16—The funeral of Salvatore (Sam) Vinci, one-time gun-toter who became a "big shot" in the prohibition gangland era, passed almost unnoticed today.

Vinci died in the county's tuberculosis hospital, a forgotten man. Only a few bunches of flowers and a few wreaths were placed on his bier, a far cry from the pompous funerals of his three gangster brothers, James, Mike and Charles. One brother, Joseph, survives.

Ironically, Vinci's body lay only a few blocks from where his three brothers were slain in separate gangland shootings.

JAP PROPERTY TO BE RETURNED IN BULLET FORM

NEW YORK, July 16 — More than $1,500,000 worth of Jap property is being converted to cash and turned over to the U. S. treasury to find its way back to the Nips in cold, hard steel.

Oriental works of art displayed by the three branches of Yamanaka & Co., a Japanese importing firm with offices in Boston, Chicago and New York, are being liquidated and profits taken by the U. S. government, it was revealed today.

About $1,550,000 is expected to be realized by the sale.

DISAVOW LEADERS OR TAKE CONSEQUENCE, IS ALLIED WARNING

Roosevelt and Hitler Castigate Mussolini for Carrying Nation Into War As Satellite of Brutal Germans

WASHINGTON, July 16—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today delivered an ultimatum to the Italian people that they must capitulate to overwhelming Allied forces or "suffer the consequence."

The dramatic joint-statement called for the "honorable capitulation" of the Italians and asked them to disavow Nazi Germany and their own "false and corrupt leaders."

With Allied armies advancing rapidly in Sicily and the invasion of the Italian mainland near, the two great Allied leaders reminded the people of Italy that their skies are dominated by "vast air armadas" and their sea coasts threatened by the greatest accumulation of sea power ever concentrated in the Mediterranean.

The history making document emphasized that "Germany's hopes for world conquest have been blasted on all fronts."

Castigating Mussolini, the two Allied leaders said that Il Duce had "carried you into this war as the satellite of a brutal destroyer of peoples and liberties." They reminded the Italian people that their sons had been unsuccessfully fighting Germany's war and that they had been "betrayed and abandoned by the Germans on the Russian front and on every battle field in Africa."

The statement was released simultaneously in Washington, London and Algiers. It was immediately broadcast by shortwave radio to the Italian people and American and British planes dropped copies of the document in pamphlet form on the Italian mainland.

"The sole hope for Italy's survival lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations," the two leaders declared.

Demand Follows Victory

The statement, another move in the psychological warfare being waged along with military thrusts at the Axis armies, came approximately one week after American, British and Canadian forces invaded the Italian island of Sicily, which, at one point, is only from two to five miles from the Italian mainland itself.

The President and the British Prime Minister warned that every moment of resistance by the Italian people would serve only to give Mussolini and Hitler a "little more time" to escape ultimate defeat.

Copies of the pamphlet also flown over Sicily and dropped among the Fascist and Nazi troops now facing fast adavncing Allied forces. Many military leaders already have expressed astonishment at the weak resistance offered by the Italian soldiers on Sicily, and it was hoped that the joint Roosevelt-Churchill statement would further break down resistance.

Allies on March

President Roosevelt and Churchill, it was learned, worked on the statement for days. They started off by saying:

"At this moment the combined armed forces of the United States and Great Britain under the command of General Eisenhower and his deputy, General Alexander, are carrying the war deep into the territory of your country. This is the direct consequence of the shameful leadership to which you have been subjected by Mussolini and his Fascist regime.

"Mussolini carried you into this

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Well, if I were himself, I'd take a couple of days off from the war abroad which seems to be going all right at the moment and have a look at the war at home.

Sometimes, while you're looking through the long-range glasses at the far horizon, things are happening directly beneath your nose which require at least semi-prompt attention.

And what happens on the far horizon is so entirely dependent on what happens under your nose that it's well to drop the glasses once in a while.

Charges that the OPA is filled with theorists and short on practical men have been made repeatedly. They should be investigated and conditions should be remedied.

The OPA is a big factor in the efficiency of the home front and it shouldn't be allowed to run along like an Irish jaunting car, bouncing good men first off one side and then the other.

The OWI is just recovering from its troubles. . .recovering principally because congress cut its appropriations.

OWI got filled up with a lot of professional "anti" people, pamphleteers, warmed-over European factionalists and axe-grinders until there was some doubt whether it was operating as a news bureau or as an overseas outpost for those fine literary patriots who scrammed out of Europe to fight Hitler at a safe 3,000 miles.

If OPA is a refuge for untested theorists and theories, it's housecleaning time as it was in OWI.

Though for the day: Tomorrow may be too late.

done by the enemy to our communications."

Gen. Eisenhower's reference to delays in transportation obviously indicated that Allied spearheads are thrusting forward so rapidly the commissary has difficulty keeping up with them.

The new aerial attacks accompanying ground operations on the island equalled if they did not exceed the record-breaking pace of recent days.

Smoke from fires left blazing at the oft-bombarded port of Naples rose more than four miles in the air. Three waves of four-motored liberators soared over the city dropping tons of bombs.

Continent Bombed

During the night Britain-based bombers carried out mass assaults on vital military installtions in France, Italy and Germany, particularly blasting the huge Peugeot motor works at Montebeliard at the eastern border of France, only 40 miles from Basle, Switzerland.

In the Pacific, American and Australian troops pushed forward through the jungles of New Guinea towards the important Japanese base at Salamaua after capturing Mubo, key enemy advance post. The Allied forces suffered only slight casualties in the Mubo battle, where 950 Nipponese joined their ancestors.

In the Solomon islands, 700 miles to the east, Amercan troops advanced closer to the Munda air base on New Georgia island in the face of stiffened Jap resistance. Allied warplanes again attacked enemy bases over a wide area in the south and southwest Pacific.

Mubo fell after that base was hammered by American artillery. The enemy stronghold's communications with Salamaua previously had been cut after American troops from the Nassau bay landing beach effected a juncture with Australians at Buigap creek, thus isolating Green's hill an observation point, two strategic positions which quickly fell into Allied hands.

Mubo Area Cleared

Last word from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters was: "Our ground forces have now cleared the Mubo area of all organized resistance and we are pressing on toward Komiatum."

In Moscow, jubilant crowds cheered an announcement that Soviet troops, smashing toward the vital Nazi base at Orel in a mighty two-pronged counter-offensive that started four days ago, were within 15 miles of the enemy base and were threatening to cut its rail connection with Bryansk, which would menace the Germans' entire central front positions.

The announcement disclosed that Red army armored units had crashed through Elnsk, 18 miles east of Orel, and the second pincer was within 28 miles of the enemy base as scores of populated places were added to the 110 towns and villages previously liberated in the drive.

The Germans continued to attack in the Belgorod region, at the southern and opposite end of the Kursk salient, suffering additional heavy losses.

was serving as Alien property custodian. These include the United States Commercial Corporation, Petroleum Reserve Corporation, Export-Import bank and others.

Wallace presumably will continue to sit in cabinet sessions in addition to being presiding officer of the senate. Jones retains his cabinet post and also chairmanship of the RFC.

Their quarrel, in which Wallace charged Jones with dereliction in acquiring stockpiles of strategic and critical materials and in which Jones retorted that Wallace told untruths, cannot be brought into the open again under the presidential order except through a congressional investigation.

By stripping Wallace of his far-flung duties in the international economic field, the President told his Democratic and New Deal supporters that he desired a new running-mate in 1944, should he seek a fourth term.

With Wallace removed from the upcoming campaign, Washington observers became convinced that Mr. Roosevelt wishes James F. Byrnes, recently appointed "deputy-president" on all domestic issues, as his running-mate next year. Byrnes, an ex-senator, an ex-supreme court justice and presently the director of the Office of War Mobilization, is one of Mr. Roosevelt's most trusted friends and advisers.

The convictin that Wallace has been "dumped" was widespread in Washington. As a matter of fact, it has been rumored for weeks that Mr. Roosevelt would have a new running-mate in 1944 should he decide to seek a fourth term. In all these rumors, Byrnes has been named as the most logical successor to Wallace.

SALVAGE BOARD SETS AUGUST 1 FOR ROUNDUP

August 1 has been fixed by the Pickaway County Salvage committee for a salvage roundup through which it is hoped many tons of materials can be collected for the war effort.

Dan McClain, chairman of the salvage unit, said that tin cans, rags, magazines, iron and other metals will be sought by the city service department on that date. The entire collection will be in charge of the department which is under direction of Clarence Helvering.

McClain pointed out that tin cans will be taken only when the labels have been taken off, when they are properly cleaned and crushed. "Too many persons," Mr. McClain said, "look on the scrap collection as a means of getting rid of a lot of rubbish in which cans have been tossed. Unless the cans are properly prepared for salvaging they will be left."

The salvage chairman urged cooperation of all persons in Circleville in the scrap collection, pointing out the importance of all materials being sought.

war as the satellite of a brutal destroyer of peoples and liberties.

"Mussolini plunged you into a war which he thought Hitler had already won. In spite of Italy's great vulnerability to attack by air and sea, your Fascist leaders sent your sons, your ships, your air forces, to distant battlefields to aid Germany in her attempt to conquer England, Russia and the world.

"This association with the designs of Nazi controlled Germany was unworthy of Italy's ancient traditions of freedom and culture—traditions to which the people of America and Great Britain owe so much.

Abandoned By Huns

"Your soldiers have fought not in the interest of Italy but for Nazi Germany. They have fought courageously, but they have been betrayed and abandoned by the Germans on the Russian front and on every battlefield in Africa from El Alamein to Cape Bon.

"Today Germany's hopes for world conquest have been blasted on all fronts. The skies over Italy are dominated by the vast air armadas of the United States and Great Britain. Italy's seacoasts are threatened by the greatest accumulation of British and Allied sea power ever concentrated in the Mediterranean.

"The forces now opposed to you are pledged to destroy the power of Nazi Germany—power which has ruthlessly been used to inflict slavery, destruction and death on all those who refuse to recognize the Germans as the master race.

"The sole hope for Italy's survival lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations.

"If you continue to tolerate the Fascist regime which serves the evil power of the Nazis, you must suffer the consequences of your own choice. We take no satisfaction in invading Italan soil and bringing the tragic devastation of war home to the Italian people. But we are determined to destroy the false leaders and their doctrines which have brought Italy to her present position.

Defeat Assured

"Every moment that you resist the combined forces of the United Nations—every drop of blood that you sacrifice—can serve only one purpose: to give the Fascist and Nazi leaders a little more time to escape from the inevitable consequences of their own crimes.

"All your interests and all your traditions have been betrayed by Nazi Germany and your own false and corrupt leaders: it is only by disavowing both that a reconstituted Italy can hope to occupy a respected place in the family of European nations.

"The time has now come for you, the Italian people, to consult your own self respect and your own interests and your own desire for a restoration of national dignity, security and peace. The time has come for you to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and for civilization."

McGraw To Face Local Court For Kidnaping Beckett In Bank Raid

Charles McGraw, alias Chick Donovan, now serving the eleventh year of a 10 to 25 year term in prison for armed robbery of Miller Beckett, Commercial Point banker, will be returned from the London pison farm to Circleville to stand trial on an indictment charging kidnaping.

McGraw was indicted on two charges in connection with the abduction and robbery of Beckett during the Winter 11 years ago. He was sentenced by the late Judge J. W. Adkins with several colleagues to serve long terms in prison.

Two weeks ago the prison farm announced that McGraw, a resident of Columbus, would be released conditionally to Pickaway county on August 1 or would be granted an outright parole October 1. Prosecutor George Gerhardt conferred with Mr. Beckett this week, the banker declaring that he would be in favor of returning McGraw for trial.

The prosecutor wrote London farm officials Thursday informing them that McGraw would be accepted here.

The banker was abducted near his home by a group of several men who tried to force him to open the Scioto Banking Co. vaults for them. Beckett pleaded that the vaults were operated with time clocks and that he could not open them. The criminals put Beckett in their car, stole his watch and money from him and hauled him to the Frank road bridge over the Scioto. The car was stopped and the banker was told he was going to be thrown into the stream. However, he was taken into the bottom lands and left there with both arms tied. He managed to escape later.

Investigation by the sheriff's office finally rounded up the bandit ring.

ASHVILLE

Richard Toole in a letter to his father William Toole of the electric shop, tells about the hot battles in which he had a part in North Africa and how the other fellow "got cleaned right." Well and doing fine, he says, and maybe if all goes as he thinks it will, can come home before so long. Richard's brother, "Nipper" as he is named here by most everyone, is in the navy at Great Lakes training school, Chicago.

Ashville

Robert Gregg, Washington, C. H., and of the vendor's license state department, was here for a few hours yesterday forenoon and assisted less than a dozen with their reports. He has been doing state department work for the last ten years, he told us.

Ashville

Met Ralph Cain here the other morning fresh in from Camp Atterbury, Indiana, on a few days furlough. Had to know of him about every little thing he was doing out there to help win the war. Said he was a Buck Sergeant and in the medical department and operated, with a corps of workers, twenty-five dental chairs to keep the boys' "masticaters" in shape for chow. Likes his job, and maybe some day, after taking a few years out at college, be a good dentist in his own name.

Ashville

Now, with the corn borers on hand to keep track of and what the farmers are telling us about them and the damage they are doing, together with fixing out a town ticket that will fit in and get elected, we are really kept busy.

Ashville

Now is your chance, any and all of you who are in the notion or can get that way, to possess for yourself a really good job—that of being mayor of Ashville in your own name and right. So begin to speak up and let all your good friends know about how well you'd fit into the place and how much you'd like to have it. Petition filing time is only a little more than six weeks away. How about the present Fred Hines mayor? After closing up his two terms the last of the year, he is sure he has had enough and refuses to consider being a candidate. Field's open, speak up, get in, good job. And a candidate for sure is Mrs. Guy Leatherwood for the office of village clerk and who will file a petition for the place. As to the other elective village officials not a whmper, to our knowledge, has been heard, but all over the outer parts of the Plum residence and it sure makes a big difference in appearance of things there about. Plenty of work ahead, the painters here tell us.

Ashville

John Lanman, of Walnut township, residing at and farming what is known here as the George Wright place, was here yesterday evening with an auto load of roasting ears, a portion of five acres of the product. Mr. Lanman grows a field of these good ones every year and knows how to do it.

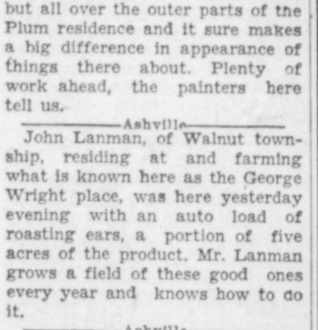
Ashville

And among these growing, things, Charles Sherman found in his potato patch, a lengthy potato vine away longer than the average with a few tiny potatoes about the roots. Others in the speed patch are good producers. The many with whom we have talked are pleased with the potato crop outlook. Some local new ones are on the market. Tomatoes, too, soon.

REV. HAYSLIP VOTED RECALL TO CITY CHURCH

The Rev. Ross W. Hayslip, East Ohio street, pastor of the Circleville Church of Christ in Christian Union, was voted a recall as pastor for the coming year at the annual business meeting of the congregation this week.

The Rev. Mr. Hayslip is completing his first year as pastor of the local church after succeeding the Rev. O. L. Ferguson, founder of the Circleville congregation and one of the leaders in the Church of Christ in Christian Union in Ohio.



What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Water Camel

Thirst is one enemy of armies and navies that may be frustrated by a generous supply of water. Typhus, another dreaded plague is another enemy that must be subdued in Africa, in the jungle islands of the Pacific.

So the "Lister Bag," more often called the "water camel," or just "camel," is used. The "Lister Bag" is a khaki colored canvas bag having a capacity of about 30 gallons.

It will require many War Bonds to provide enough "camels" for our fighting forces at home and abroad. Yours too!

AIR BATTLERS AT LOCKBOURNE TO GIVE BLOOD

Lockbourne army air base soldiers will do their bit for fellow Americans on scattered war fronts August 2 and 4 when the Franklin county Red Cross mobile blood unit visits the base.

Officers and enlisted men will volunteer as blood donors, registration being under way.

Preliminary reports indicate that response at Lockbourne will be large.

The hospital staff at the air base will assist Red Cross workers by providing beds and other equipment.

Iron and scrap collections in Rhode Island average about 3,000 tons a week, or more than nine pounds per capita.

ELEVATORS MAY SELL GRAIN TO FEEDERS, MIXERS

Pickaway county grain dealers were informed Friday by the AAA that a government provision which called for elevators to ship 80 percent of all corn purchased has been rescinded. Under the new AAA order elevators buying corn in their counties may sell it to feeders, feed mixers and manufacturers where food grains are not available.

Feeders and mixers must certify that their inventories of corn for delivery within the next 20 days does not exceed the quantity used during the last 20 days. Other dealers and brokers must resell within 24 hours.

MRS. EDNA MAY THOMAS DIES AT SISTER'S HOME

Mrs. Edna May Thomas, 63, a native of South Bloomfield, died Friday at 2:15 a. m. at the home of her sister, Mrs. Vanessa Welsh, Ashville. Mrs. Thomas was born June 3, 1880, a daughter of Frank and Caroline Corder Welsh.

Other survivors in addition to the sister are a son, Otto, Columbus, another sister, Mrs. William Wean, Ashville, and a brother, Fred Welsh of Minneapolis. There is also one grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m., at the William Wean residence, the Rev. O. W. Smith officiating. Burial will be in South Bloomfield cemetery by E. F. Schlegel.

Draft Officials Say Fathers Will Not Be Called Before Winter

While Pickaway county Selective Service officials marked time on the question of calling draft age fathers into uniform, national draft officials declared Friday that general induction of fathers into armed services would not begin in all probability until after October.

October 1 was set as the earliest possible date for calling men with children after it was disclosed that there are now enough "non-fathers" in process of classification and induction to fill military needs for July, August and September.

Officials said they could not forecast exactly when fathers would be inducted, but they emphasized that all other alternative steps will be taken before they are called—including combing of men classed "4-F" and groups now deferred as essential to farm or war work.

Likewise, they asserted, the constane new draft material from the 90,000 young men reaching the draft age of 18 each month will be utilized to the fullest to stave off the day when fathers would be put into uniform.

Maj. Emmett Soloman, official of the Selective Service system, disclosed that the draft quota for September had been increased over the August call, but was below the total called for military service in July. No figures were made public because of their military secrecy.

Soloman gave reporters figures however which indicated that on July 1 there were 1,566,000 "non-fathers" in the process of classification, examination and induction. This total, together with the 90,000-a-month reaching 18 years of age is sufficient to supply draft calls up to October 1 without dipping into the fathers pool, he said.

Referring to the size of the armed forces, previously announced as being 9,300,000 on July 1, Soloman asserted that 8,023,000 of the total had been inducted or enlisted since the beginning of the draft.

With the size of the armed forces, including women, within 2,000,000 of the 11,300,000 goal set by President Roosevelt for the end of 1943, officials made plain that more than this total would have to be inducted by December 31. They pointed out that replacements must be drafted for casualties suffered in battle, medical discharges, and other discharges from the armed forces.

Preesnt average age of inductees is 24 years, Soloman asserted, and the rejection rate—for physical, mental, or moral disqualifications—is approximately 40 percent of the total being called. This rejection rate, however, increases with age, he declared, adding that if and when fathers are called the average age will be between 30 and 31 years, and disqualifications on physical grounds will show a sharp rise.

Plant diseases are said to cause an animal loss of about $200 on each American farm.

OPEN LETTERS

TO SOLDIERS

ALL: Almost every day we read where another of you has been sent into a new war theatre, or where another of you has done some splendid job for Uncle Sam in some phase or another, or where still others have done so well in your endeavors that your commanding officers have seen fit to give you advanced training for an important mission to come sometime later. Hardly a day passes that a Circleville or Pickaway county youth does not get in some kind of a lick against the axis. Our fighting sons are on all fronts in the world, in far off New Guinea, in China, in Burma, in the frigid, fog-enshrouded Aleutians, in the Mediterranean area, guarding vital points in the Canal Zone, or in Iceland, on Guadalcanal, or in one or another strategic location throughout the globe. Everywhere that the war is being waged boys from good old Pickaway county are bearing arms in an effort to overcome the axis, and the job they are doing is a splendid one. These fellows are on the road to Tokyo and Berlin, by slow stages, it is admitted, but by steady ones, and one of these days our youths will be there when the Stars and Stripes and the flags of other United Nations are sent flying high above cities which now are considered impregnable by Japs, Huns and Italians, although the latter are beginning to see the handwriting on the wall a little earlier possibly than are their buddies. Some of the boys who are now bearing arms will probably not be around when the flag-raising time comes. There are bound to be many casualties and, since our boys have never shirked a fight, names of some of our finest lads will be among those posted on casualty lists. But, wherever Pickaway county boys are located you know and I know that they are giving good accounts of themselves.

CIRCUITEER.

TO JUVENILE AUTHORITIES

OFFICIALS: Congratulations to you for starting the ball rolling toward a city ordinance which will help to keep juveniles off streets of Circleville late at night. I hope that city council goes along with you in your efforts to obtain such a law. Then, too, I hope that each city patrolman is provided with a copy of the ordinance so that he can become thoroughly familiar with the law and its operation. Our juvenile problem is no worse than in a lot of other cities, but it is bad. When boys and girls of 12 and 14 years old are permitted to parade the streets at all hours of the night and are allowed in beer parlors and other places, things are not good. Passage of an ordinance calls for complete cooperation between policemen and juvenile court so that such a law can be made operative. Any law passed will be written so that parents of children permitted out late at night will be penalized, and this is as it should be.

CIRCUITEER.

TO FATHER REIDY

PASTOR: Your move to open the Catholic church recreation hall for all children of the community is indeed a splendid one, one which merits full support of the community. I am pleased that you are asking cooperation from civic, social and fraternal clubs in supervising the hall during evenings when it will be opened for recreational purposes. Local organizations are not being asked to pay any expenses involved in the recreation program. They are merely being asked to take charge of the hall a week at a time so that youthful groups may be chaperoned during recreation periods. There are splendid facilities in the recreation center for boys and girls of the community who now are without any place to spend their time. I hope that you get your program into operation at an early day, and keep it moving through the late Summer, Fall and Winter seasons. Your recreation center can do much for Circleville youths.

CIRCUITEER.

TO THE WEATHERMAN

UNKIND SIR: You have been a dickens of a fellow to get along with recently. You just will not behave as you should. There are gobs and gobs of acres of corn in Pickaway county fields, and the countless bushels to be produced there must feed our livestock, must feed us and must help feed our allies. And along you come with inch after inch after inch of rain, keeping farmers from plowing their fields and keeping the corn from ripening in the proper manner. We have canning factories just waiting until this crop can become ripe enough to jerk and then thousands of cans will be filled for our boys at war. How about a little cooperation? And, say, you can cut out all those electrical storms, too. Whether you know it or whether you do not, they are not appreciated.

CIRCUITEER.

TO FARMERS

FOLK: My hat is off to most of you fellows who have been doing an all-out job for Uncle Sam. You have been doing your best to produce as many of the necessities of life as you can possibly put out, and you are doing this despite disadvantages of all kinds. First of all your help problem has not been solved in a satisfactory manner; Spring planting and plowing were late because of rains; then came wheat Winter kill, high winds and downpours just when they did the wheat the most harm; along came the corn borer, and the Japanese beetle to get into corn. Your farm machinery and equipment problems are important, and other drawbacks can be found to enumerate. But most of you are going along the best way you can and doing the best job you know how to do. More power to all of you.

CIRCUITEER.

TO DEFENSE COUNCIL

VOLUNTEERS: You fellows took a definite step forward this week when you appointed a committee to investigate possibility of obtaining an air raid signal for Circleville, one which will have sufficient volume and one which will be entirely different from any whistle or siren now in operation in Circleville. The local Civilian Defense organization is as near a complete unit as any in Ohio, but it is woefully weak when it comes to alerting Circleville's residents. I hope that your committee is successful in its quest for a satisfactory system.

DIET AND HEALTH

Angina Deaths Mount

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE RECORDS of vital statistics from all sources—life insurance companies and public health departments—indicate an increased mortality from disease of the coronary arteries of the heart leading to the familiar syndrome of angina pectoris.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It is by no means easy to account for this mounting increase. One could say that it was due to the fact that more people live to get into the coronary artery period of life than formerly, were it not for certain peculiarities in the statistics. For instance, it is four to six times more common among men than among women. Here it might be said that while men and women have the same changes in their coronary arteries, women in general lead less active lives, especially after the age of fifty, than men.

Another peculiarity comes into the statistics in that this form of heart disease affects the white collar workers a good deal more than it does the workers who do strenuous manual labor. For instance, among the professions, perhaps the one in which it occurs most often is the physician. Certainly he does not do as hard work as the coal miner of the same age.

Emotional Factors

Again, if you attempt to explain it on the basis of emotional factors, one would think that the physician with his practiced control over his emotions would be fairly free from it. On the contrary, the physician is rather continuously subjected to emotional strain, worry and anxiety, perhaps more so, than a man in any other profession. A priest can leave the future to God, a lawyer can leave it to the courts, but the futures of his patients are in the physician's own hands.

What role is played by nutrition, faults of nutrition, by tobacco and other chronic drug habits—coffee and alcohol, for instance?

Of course, the fundamental basis of angina is an organic changing in the coronary arteries, a process of aging, which causes them to thicken, become occluded and carry a smaller amount of blood to the heart muscle. But these arteries, as well as normal coronary arteries, are subject to spasm and the question arises: How can we prevent the spasm and prevent the nutritional changes that occur in the arteries?

Protective Vitamins

Dr. H. C. Sherman, one of the most eminent American nutritionists, believes that the addition of foods rich in calcium and protective vitamins to the diet of those beyond the age of 45 would increase by 10 per cent the years of active life. "Experimentally it has been shown that a higher than average calcium intake is conducive to better than average health." (Falk). A calcium-rich diet tends to improvement in the utilization of food, greater adult vitality and a longer period between the attainment of maturity and the onset of senility.

The program for possible prevention of coronary artery disease and angina pectoris is one which rests on the responsibility of the individual and in this time when the young men of the country are out of industrial and professional work, every man from forty on is faced with this obligation.

Bruce Barton has suggested that at the age of 45 a man should review himself and determine which personal type of intemperance is his weakness. He says that alcoholic intemperance is relatively insignificant when compared to the intemperance of other types, such as excessive work, life-sapping worry and feverish pursuit of pleasure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. E. A.: What vegetables have bulk and produce elimination?

Answer: Nearly any except potatoes. Radishes, celery, carrots, string beans, asparagus, lettuce, cabbage, onions, turnips, and beets are conspicuous in having plenty of roughage. These fruits not only have bulk, but their juices are laxative — oranges, apples, grapefruit, watermelon, cantaloupe, blueberries, cherries, peach, pears, apricots, etc.

G. M. B.: Can tuberculosis be cured by shots?

Answer: Medical science has accumulated a great many reliable methods of curing tuberculosis, but no method of hypodermic medication has ever been successful. So why experiment with a doubtful remedy, when there are good ones available?

E. S. M.: Will camphor dry up a goiter?

Answer: Neither camphor nor anything else will dry up a goiter.

P. F. B.: How is it possible to find out for certain whether a person has trichinosis—by blood or x-ray?

Answer: Trichinosis is infection with a little worm that grows in raw pork. When uncooked pork is eaten, it enters the blood stream and settles in the muscles. There are blood changes, but the most reliable way of diagnosis is to cut a little piece of muscle out and see if you can find a cyst imbedded.

Leave My Heart Alone

SYNOPSIS

KAREN BELL, wealthy and lovely, has been the sweetheart of another member of her rich Florida set,

PAUL WYATT, since childhood. However, she surprisingly encounters a young stranger, obviously not of her social standing, and learns that he is MARTIN HALIDAY.

YESTERDAY: After agreeing that Paul and she should marry, Karen and her father continue their discussion. Jim Bell reveals that he has received a cablegram from Denise, Karen's sister.

CHAPTER SEVEN

A CABLEGRAM from Denise—Karen's heart leaped, then contracted with something akin to fear as she took the yellow sheet her father handed to her. It might be bad news, instead of good, for they knew that that small Balkan country, where Denise had gone to make her home, stood in the path of Hitler's relentless war machine, although as yet it had not been attacked. It was so seldom that they had any news, good or bad.

Once before a cable had been received at the birth of Denise's son; again, a few years later, when this same little boy, named after his grandfather, James Bell Durfee, had lain at death's door, stricken with a mysterious fever; another, months later, saying that the child was on the road to recovery.

With such scant information regarding the life that Denise led so many miles across the sea, it was no wonder that Karen was apprehensive, although she knew whatever news this message contained must bear some gladness if it must, at the same time, bring a wave of sadness, too, for how could she or her father be reminded of Denise without the old sorrow sweeping over them?

Again the message was about Denise's son, no word concerning herself. It simply stated that she was sending the boy home, passage having been secured on a refugee ship bringing other children to America. It gave the approximate time of the ship's expected arrival.

So much and yet so little; there was nothing to say what had led to this sudden decision. Yet one thing was significant; there was no question as to what the boy's welcome would be or if his grandfather would take care of him. And Denise had said she was sending him "home."

"I thought at first I'd keep it as a surprise for you when the little fellow got here," Jim said, his voice still husky. He saw that for a moment she could not speak, for Karen's eyes were brimming with tears as she handed the message back to him. He knew they were the same mixture as his own emotions, joy and sorrow. "But when you told me your big news I decided to spring mine on you. Think of it, chickadee, my grandson, Denise's boy. Now you know what I meant by an addition to our household!"

"I'm glad you told me," Karen said. She did not know why she should feel so choked up, unless it was because the surprise was almost too much for her. "It's wonderful news, dad. Almost too wonderful to take in all at once. How old do you suppose he is? What do you suppose they call him? Will it be Little Jim and Big Jim from now on? Do you suppose he looks like Denise?"

She asked these questions to try to smooth over the intensity of the moment, not because she expected him to know the answers. But they would know soon. That was the wonderful part. That silent wall separating Denise from her family would be removed. Perhaps a new one, of forgiveness and understanding, would slowly grow to take its place.

"We'll know all those things when we see the lad." Jim Bell had to give his nose a hard blow or he would have tears stinging his eyes also. It had been almost too much, as Karen had said, for him. "I'm flying to New York next weekend," he added. "The day after the Festival. I ought to return with the boy within a few days, if the ship docks on schedule."

Karen wondered if he was thinking as she was—IF the boat docks—for of course it would be a dangerous voyage. He must be a brave little boy, this unknown nephew of hers, to undertake such a long, perilous journey, although there were hundreds of other little children facing that same ordeal. It must have taken courage for Denise to send him, courage and heart break.

"Can't I go with you?" she asked. Someone ought to be with her father at such a time.

But he refused her offer. I'll have other things to attend to while I'm there, business matters, and I thought I might ask Paul to accompany me. In fact, my dear, I'd rather you were here, waiting for us. I want you, personally, to oversee the nursery quarters, the rooms you and Denise used when you were young 'uns. Cousin Ellen would toss out most of the old toys and furnishings as 'junk,' while you will know what to discard and what to hold onto. We must make this 'home' to the lad." He had to blow his nose again, as he finished.

"It will be," Karen said. They would do everything in their power to make the little boy happy. If Paul went with her father she would be satisfied. How nice it was that her father knew he could call upon Paul; it proved that he thought of him already as a son. Karen would probably have to rely on Paul's help, too, for she did not know much about little boys.

Goodness, so much was happening all at once! It was like an avalanche, so many changes, when she had thought she did not want any.

"Well, I'll run along," Karen said, giving her father one more tight squeeze before she left him. "I know you want to pretend to get busy. In fact, there's Jane now, armed with pad and pencil and that determined glint in her eye." Jane Peters was another distant cousin who lived in the big house and who served as Jim's secretary. "And I have a million things to do myself."

"Don't try to do them all today," her father advised, the old twinkle returning to his eyes. "Pretend, indeed—you are a sassy miss! I'll have you know your father really has to use his gray matter these days, with the market rising and falling like an old tug on a high sea and the government threatening to tax us for ever, cent of profit . . ."

"You have to have something to grumble about," Karen returned in her old teasing tone. "Good morning, Jane . . . don't let Jim tax his gray matter too much, for I'm going to beat him at golf this afternoon at three. If I can spare the time, that is. If not, I'll send Paul to take you on for me, darling."

She blew him a kiss and closed the door of the study behind her. He was as strict about his hours, from nine until two at his desk, as if he were paid for them. But maybe he did have a lot on his mind, poor dear, with the business world and the government in such a turmoil.

Certainly Karen now had a lot on hers. There was the Festival next week, the nursery rooms to oversee, the arrival of Denise's son, shopping that must be begun for the trousseau she supposed she would have to start getting ready, all the parties that would be given as soon as her engagement was known. Heavens! She would be kept in a whirl for the next few months. Then if her wedding took place after the holidays that would be another merry-go-round. But as Jim had said, she could not do them all in one day, or even think about them at all at once.

She was glad she had made a resolution to get up for an early dip and swim, and to breakfast afterwards, with her dad. It might be a good idea to resolve further to devote her mornings to the things that had to be done, to work out a set schedule. She supposed there should be a schedule with a little boy in a house. That would make a big difference in lots of ways.

For the first time in her life Karen realized that so far her existence had been a pretty aimless one. She had gotten up whenever it suited her, going to bed according to her mood as well; she had drifted from one pastime to another, partying, basking in the sun, swimming, golfing, dancing, a continuous round of play and pleasure. Oh, she had had certain interests and duties connected with various socially-guided charitable organizations, as had all the girls in her set. But they had been part of the fun, too, never in any sense a serious obligation or burden.

From now on, life should be more in earnest. She would try to charter a more worthwhile course. She would have to put her girlhood behind her with the formal acknowledgment of her betrothal. Soon she would not be a girl, but a wife!

There was another jolt, but she supposed it was one every girl got at contemplating such a big change ahead. No doubt every girl got jittery, but she was luckier than most in that she was going to marry Paul, who was so near and so dear.

Just the same, she would not think that far ahead just yet.

1. What saint was famous for feeding the birds?
2. What was William F. Cody's nickname?
3. Who was John Cabot?

Words of Wisdom

He is most free from danger, who even when safe, is on his guard.—Publius Syrus.

Hints on Etiquette

In these days, when so many people are working long hours and often at night, be sure you are quiet in your home life. Do not slam doors, shout at the family or neighbors, and if you have the radio on, keep it low.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday, this is a powerful aspect for initiative and exploration. Even at night there is need of executive leadership and self-reliance. Get up early this morning in a pleasant mood, to make things happier for yourself and others. Do not make an unwelcome remark this evening that can be exaggerated into a deliberate gossip. It might hurt your reputation to be involved, even indirectly, in a neighborhood scandal. Yours is a strong, forceful personality. You are very capable. You are dogmatic in your opinions and impatient with those who disagree with you. Be less critical of others. Cultivate gentleness and show more attention to your loved ones.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. St. Francis of Assisi.
2. Buffalo Bill.
3. An early explorer of Italian birth.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Pickaway county's common pleas courtroom was graced with a silk American flag and standard, the gift of the sheriff's department. It was a memorial to the late Judge Joseph W. Adkins.

Valuation of Pickaway county land jumped $10.27 per acre to an average of $76.86 during the year ending June 30, 1938.

Representatives of three school districts of Pickaway, Ross and Hocking counties were given assurance by the state department of agriculture of preference to a PWA project for the construction of a new $150,000 school in Saltcreek township.

10 YEARS AGO

Announcement was made by P. E. Sigler, manager of the Container Corporation of America plant in Circleville, that effective July 16 the wages of all employees of the company would be increased 10 percent.

George P. Foresman, Circleville postmaster, resigned, his term in office having expired. This procedure was followed in all cities where terms of Republican postmasters had expired.

Pat J. Kirwin, using as his subject, "A Youth Looks on this Revolution of 1933", spoke to the Rotary club at its regular Thursday session.

25 YEARS AGO

Troop 2 of Circleville Campfire Girls, under Miss Cleo Cowger, went into camp on the Myers farm, near Woodlyn.

William Vieth received word from his grandson, Sergeant Major Bradford Bevier, of headquarters company, 134th Field Artillery, saying that he had arrived safely in France.

Christian Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwarz of Watt street, a graduate of Everts high school and Bliss Business college, was employed as a clerk at the Buckeye Gas company to succeed Miss Fan C. Sapp who went to the Circleville Savings and Banking company.

Inside WASHINGTON

Congressman Asks Probe Of Falangist Activities

Franco's Interest in Latin America Cause for Worry

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

● WASHINGTON.—Totalitarianism, in its Falangistic form, definitely has horned, to some extent, into Latin America, and now is trying to establish a foothold in the United States.

Congressman John M. Coffee of Washington state had the subject up in the house of representatives a few days ago, demanding an investigation of the Falangists' activities. As to other forms of radicalism we already are quite well informed, through Chairman Martin Dies' probings of them by his legislative committee on un-American influences in our midst.

Falangism Remains Mystery

With Falangism, however, we are less intimately acquainted. It is closer to our New World dooryard, though, than any other of the recent "isms," and deserves attention, in Lawmaker Coffee's opinion.

Russian Communism stirred up the initial mud and had become conspicuously alarming before Italian Fascism had become very noticeable over here. It was upon Communism that the Dies committee made its start.

But, before long, Fascism got going full blast.

Then Nazism broke loose and virtually swallowed Fascism, rather than combining with it.

The Dies committee had kept up with developments thus far.

What has missed the committee's scrutiny has been the birth of Falangism in Spain, probably because its chairman rated the Spaniards as a second-rate people, of small "globaloney" consequence.

Nevertheless, Fuehrer Hitler and Duce Mussolini sensed its possibilities. It was the invention of a totalitarian centering around Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco. They quickly spotted him as a potential partner of their own. The Spaniards are, essentially, totalitarian, and Franco had to fight a mean civil war to create his dictatorship, but he did it, with German Nazi and Italian Fascist aid.

So—Falangism is his philosophy.

Having been helped by Adolf and Benito, Caudillo Francisco was enthusically for them when today's war started.

He did not care about Japan, but he was pro-Nazi and pro-Fascist; the European Axis were his group—and are yet. That is, they would be, if he believed they could "get away with it," against the democracies. However, Franco now has his doubts as to Axis victory. Still he thinks he may be able to hang onto Spain.

Nevertheless, Adolf and Benito may be licked without the Allies necessarilly licking Franco.

And, from Franco's standpoint, to hades with Japan!

Caudillo Franco's prime consideration is the New World. This is only natural inasmuch as almost half of the Western Hemisphere has a culture derived from Spain.

Falangism Called Menace

Franco's open attempt at flirtation with Senorita South America and his not too subtle eyeing of US is what annoys Representative Coffee.

So—as Representative Coffee remarks—

Let's have some investigating!

As Coffee apparently views it, to heck with enemy totalitarianism—we are going to wipe those boys right out of office. New World totalitarianism is what we should worry about.

Coffee's fear is that we may wake up and find we have totalitarianism right here at home—not within the borders of the United States but right on our doorstep.

In other words, in the fight against Nazism and Fascism we cannot afford to overlook the menace of Falangism.

STARS SAY—

For Friday, July 16

THE AFFAIRS of this day may be expected to move at high tempo, with possibly much excitement, commotion and thrills, in whatever direction the energies, resources, opportunities and ambitions may be turned by powerful planetary influence. Both practical, business, industrial and everyday affairs are under high pressure for constructive action and the personal life runs in quite as decisive, dramatic and spectacular grooves. In fact the romantic and emotional may be the inspiration for heightened activity.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of exciting and dramatic adventures, creating high tension and excitement both in the home and business associations. In the latter it is advised to push all matters to decisive goals as there is prospect of constructive and lucrative work by quick and determined attack. In the realm of the emotional or affectional life there may be sudden and unforeseen developments, with celebrations, parties or other exciting functions, giving great joy and gratification, albeit much domestic tumult, annoyance, or friction.

A child born on this day may have much skill and ability in practical matters, with much to be gained by its skill, determination and enterprise. Its emotional or affectional life may be just as dramatic and exciting, possibly with some storms and stresses.

Home Canning Discussed For Jackson Council 4

Mary Shortridge On Program At Meeting

Twenty-four members and guests gathered Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Walters, Jackson township, for the July session of Jackson Advisory Council 4. The feature of the evening was the talk on "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" by Mss Mary Shortridge, guest speaker for the session. Miss Shortridge discussed open kettle, cold pack and pressure cooker methods of canning and gave splendid advice on preparation of fruits and vegetables for each of the tnree methods. She stressed the need for freshness and high quality of materials for the best canning results.

Lawrence Goodman, vice president, was in the chair for the meeting in the absence of Jay Seaburn, president. The group decided to have a picnic meeting, August 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butts, Jackson township.

Mr. Butts, discussion leader of the council, led the members in discussions of pertinent farm problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters served a seasonal lunch during the informal social hour.

God Encourages Moses

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 18 is Exodus 3:13-4;31, the Golden Text being Exodus 3:12, "Certainly I will be with thee.")

THE CALLING of Moses to his great task of leading the Children of Israel out of the land of Egypt is given a larger space in the Bible than the calling or conversion of any other person, probably because it was so important in the history of his nation.

Moses seems to have been quite overcome by the high honor of being chosen by the Lord, and quite certain that he was not the one to do the work. It took time and patience to convince him that he indeed was the man, and none other.

When I come to the children of Israel, whom shall I say sent me? he asks. "What shall I say unto them?"

God answered, "I am that I am . . . thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, the Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent you: this is My name for ever, and this is My memorial unto all generations."

God instructed Moses that he should gather the elders of his people together and tell them that the God of their fathers had seen their affliction and would lead them out of the land where they were so cruelly treated. He warned Moses, however, that the king would not let them go, but He, the Lord, would "stretch out My hand and smite Egypt with all My wonders which I will do in the midst thereof: and after that he will let you go."

Told to "Borrow" Clothes, Jewels

They should not go empty handed, however, but should "borrow" or ask for jewels and clothes to take with them so that they would be wealthy. We can only surmise that this was not intended as a robbery of the Egyptians, but that the Israelites were entitled to these things as they had earned them by their labors.

Moses was not yet convinced, and asked by what token he could prove he really was sent of God. "What is that in thy hand?" asked the Lord. "A rod." He was told to cast the rod on the ground and it became a serpent of which he was frightened. "Put forth thy hand and take it by the tail," he was told, and when he did it again became a rod.

He was next told to put his hand in his bosom, and when he withdrew it it was white like a leper's hand: do it again, he was told, and the hand became normal. The last miracle he was to perform to convince people he was God's messenger was to take some of the water from the Nile in his hand and throw it upon the ground, when it would become blood.

Moses' next objection was that he was not eloquent, but the Lord asked him "Who hath made man's mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the seeing, or the blind? have not I the Lord?" . . . "I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou shalt say."

Even this was not enough for Moses, and he asked the Lord to please send someone else. At this the Lord grew angry, and he said to Moses, "Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can speak well. And also, behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his heart. And thou shalt speak unto him, and put words in his mouth and I will be with thy mouth and will teach you what ye shall do. And he shall be thy spokesman unto the people."

Moses Is Convinced

Moses was finally convinced that he was the man, and he went to his father-in-law, Jethro, and asked to be allowed to take his wife and sons back to Egypt. Jethro told him to "go in peace," so Moses set his wife and two sons on a donkey and started, for the Lord had assured him that all the men that sought his life were dead.

Moses' younger son had never been circumcised, and because of this the Lord sought to kill him, but Moses' wife Zipporah, circumcised him and then apparently went back to her father, Jethro, and Moses went on alone. Aaron was told by the Lord to meet his brother, and he did, and they kissed each other affectionately when they met in the "mount of God."

Moses "told Aaron all the words of the Lord who had sent him and all the signs which He had commanded him." Then Moses and Aaron gathered together the elders of the children of Israel. It seems that even in their state of bondage they still maintained their organized religion and elected their leaders or elders.

"And Aaron spake all the words which the Lord had spoken unto Moses, and did the signs in the sight of the people.

"And the people believed: and when they heard that the Lord had visited the children of Israel, and that He had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads and worshipped."

So was the leader chosen and the plan set to rescue the tribes of Joseph from their oppressors in Egypt.

PUBLIC SALE
NOTICE OF SALE

In pursuance of an order of the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, we will offer for sale at public auction on Monday, the 2nd day of August, 1943 at 2:00 o'clock p. m. at the front door of the Court House the following described real estate situated in the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio, to-wit:

FIRST TRACT: Being a part of Original Survey No. 501 in the Virginia Military District of Ohio and bounded as follows:

On the west by the school house lot in subdistrict No. 5 in said Jackson Township, on the north and east by the lands formerly owned by William T. Bell, now Parl Timmons, and on the south by the Florence Chapel free turnpike, being a triangular piece of land containing one acre of land more or less and being the same premises formerly occupied by the Presbyterian Church and known as the Darby Presbyterian Church and being the same premises described in the Mortgage deed executed by the Darby Presbyterian Church to the Board of Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America and being recorded in Vol. 29, page 16 etc. of the Mortgage Records of Pickaway County, Ohio, and being the same premises which were conveyed to Walter H. Huston by H. S. Sheets, Sheriff of Pickaway County, Ohio by deed dated June 30th 1916, and recorded in Deed Book 94, page 493, Recorder's Office, Pickaway County, Ohio.

SECOND TRACT: Bounded on the north by the survey line between Phillip Weller's and L. Self's survey, on the east by the Presbyterian Church lot, on the south the Florence Chapel turnpike and on the west by lands heretofore conveyed by Sarah Florence to Frederick Hain and now owned by Harry R. Renick, containing one acre of land, more or less, being a part of Phillip Weller's Survey No. 501 and being the same premises heretofore occupied as a school house lot in subdistrict No. 5 of said township.

THIRD TRACT: Situated in the same Township, county and state and described as follows:

Beginning at a stone most northerly corner to Self's Survey No. 501; thence N. 81 ¾° E. 75-100 chains to a stone in the Robtown Road and East line of Survey No. 6,781; thence with said road S. 13½° E. 10 chains to a stake; thence with said road S. 2° W. 33 54-100 chains to a point in said road; thence S. 5¾° E. 5 57-100 chains to a stone in said road; thence 77¼° W. 6 67-100 chains to a stone, northerly corner to the school lot in line of Larkin Self's Survey No. 501; thence with Self's line N. 46° W. 33.00 chains to a stone most westerly corner to said survey; thence N. 43¾° E. 33 30-100 chains to the beginning, containing 88 34-100 acres of land.

Said premises cannot be sold for less than $6,000.

The terms of sale are Cash. Ten percent of the purchase price paid down on day of sale, the balance on confirmation of the sale and delivery of the deed.

There is a fourteen room frame dwelling, 1 brick and frame barn, 2 chicken houses, 1 smoke-house, 1 garage, and 1 spring furnishing running water the year round on the premises.

The foregoing premises are located in Jackson township, 7½ miles northwest of Circleville on the Florence Chapel Pike.

Immediate possession of the premises can be given the purchaser.

LOUIS HOPING TO QUALIFY IN GOLF TOURNEY

CHICAGO, July 16 — Sgt. Joe Louis, never a fellow to boast, said today he thought he had a fair chance to qualify in the all-American golf tournament which opens Monday at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter club.

Joe's modest assumption came after he had toured the course in 78 for the 18 holes in a rehearsal for his appearance in the big event.

"I think maybe I could do okay around here," he said. "Maybe I could break 76. Boy, I'd sure like to."

Last year it took a 36-hole score of 157 to qualify in the amateur tournament. If Joe could duplicate his 78 practice round a couple of times next week it might be enough.

Joe's practice card showed a 40 going out and 38 coming in. He parred seven of the last nine holes, getting bogies on the 14th and 15th.

He played with Clyde Martin, Negro pro from Detroit and Joe's golf teacher, who turned in a 76, and Calvin Searles of New Orleans, who had a 71.

FINALS COMING UP

NEW YORK, July 16—Ironically it will be a Texan and a Californian who will meet today for the eastern junior tennis championship at the west side tennis club in Forest Hills. It was Ed Ray, a dark horse and an unseeded player from Taft, Texas, who eliminated the No. 2 seeded man and favorite, Howe Atwater, of Chicago, yesterday by scores of 6 to 3, 6 to 8, and 6 to 1. Atwater was handicapped somewhat by a lame ankle suffered during Wednesday's play.

Glass was set in the windows of the houses of Herculaneum and Pompeii; also in Roman houses.

CECIL ISBELL TO HELP COACH PURDUE ELEVEN

LAFAYETTE, Ind. July 16 — Cecil Isbell, one of the greatest forward passers in college and professional football, will quit the Green Bay Packers and join the coaching staff at Purdue university, his alma mater, it was announced today.

Isbell, who will be Head Coach Elmer Burnham's assistant, will replace Mel Taube as backfield coach. Taube now is in the navy. Summer practice started this week at Purdue with 93 candidates showing up. Isbell will take up his new duties within a few days.

He led the National Football league last season in total completions, yards gained by passing and touchdowns scored by passing.

ADIOS VICTOR

CLEVELAND, July 16—Adios, pacing sensation of the Grand Circuit season, today had a new mark to better at North Randall track following his record breaking time of 2:01¾ recorded in a straight heat victory in the championship stallion stake. The three-year-old, owned by Thomas Thomas of Cleveland, scored his fourth victory in four starts while establishing the best time for the North Randall meet. Rupe Parker was at the reins as the favorite raced off with the $2,280 prize.

BITHORN TOUGH

CINCINNATI, July 16 — Elmer Riddle, Redleg hurler, found his equal in Hiram Bithorn of the Chicago Cubs as the latter team pounded the Reds for an 8 to 0 victory last night. Riddle was first hit hard in the third inning as the Cubs made it good for five runs. In the eighth Bill Nicholson hit a home run with two on. The defeat was the fifth for Riddle against 11 wins. It was the tenth shutout suffered by the Reds this year.

Medwick Stays Home As Dodgers Travel; Cards Lose Brecheen

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, July 16—One of the most hazardous pastimes of the moment for a baseball expert with pride in his clairvoyance is trying to guess what the Brooklyn Dodgers are going to do next, but one more bum steer can't hurt after everybody had Leo Durocher fired only to find out that it was Bobo Newsom all the time.

The latest guess is that Joe Medwick is through.

Manager Durocher has promised a statement late today in that connection, explaining why the one-time ball-powering outfielder did not make the trip to Boston with the team yesterday.

It is no secret that President Branch Rickey tried to peddle Medwick earlier in the season, and now finding himself one man above the player limit, the natural supposition is that Joe will land somewhere in the American League after being waived out of his own circuit.

At the moment Medwick has an utterly un-glamorous batting average of .272. That's the same Medwick who came to the Dodgers with Pitcher Curt Davis from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for a reported $130,000 in cash and four players. That was in 1940.

The same Medwick, too, who was beaned by Bob Bowman soon after he joined the Dodgers and never thereafter struck the stride that made him the batting champion in 1937 with an average of .374.

Still Not Bad

He hit .301 in 1940, .318 in 1941 and .300 in 1942, all of which is not bad, but he never was able to muster his oldtime power and never was the threat that he had been when he was out there in the St. Louis sector.

As a Dodger he has been just a good journeyman ball player, and that beaning may be the reason.

In any case, it seems likely that he is going elsewhere to leave the out pastures to others who may not be great, but who fit in better at this time.

That is, unless this is another wrong guess. From the way the guesses have been going, they may announce that they never had any intention of trading Medwick and it will be two other fellows.

How many more men can the St. Louis Cardinals lose and still be the best club in the National League?

They suffered about as many casualties between last season and this as any of the rest and still have managed to take a 5 1-2 game lead on the Dodgers. But now Howie Pollet, one of their standout pitchers, and Harry Brecheen, a promising rookie, have been called by their draft boards and Ernie White may be out for the rest of the season with bursitis.

Pollet is the young gent who has been hurling sensationally, while White was one of the Cardinal pitching stars in last year's world series. He hurled a shutout to aprpoach the superb showing made by Johnny Beazley who beat the Yanks twice, and soon thereafter went into the service.

One or two more losses on top of what they've already suffered and the Cardinals will have a struggle to the wire, or so it would seem, the big thing in their favor, however, being that tremendous lead they have taken over the Dodgers, not the 5 1-2 game edge so much as 10 games the best of it in the loss column.

PHILS GIVE UP TWO

PHILADELPHIA, July 16 — The Phillies today had parted company with Right-Hander Charley Fuchs and Third-String Catcher Tommy Padden. Fuchs, who won three and lost seven for the Quakers, was sold to Toledo of the American Association, while Padden will serve with the Washington Senators. Neither sale price was disclosed.

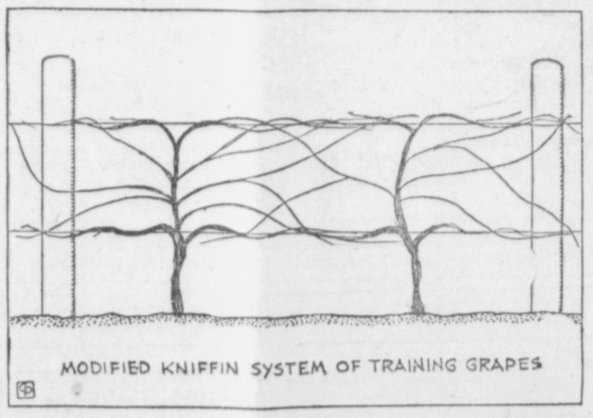
Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



Training Grape Vines in Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

THERE ARE many methods of training grape vines. Some, however, would prove rather confusing to the Victory gardener. The Kniffin system is, perhaps, the most easy to comprehend.

Illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph is the Single-stem, Four-cane Kniffin system. The lower wire is placed 30 inches from the ground. The trunk of the grape vine is permitted to reach the upper wire and to develop two branches extending in opposite directions on each wire. Each spring these arms are renewed by a one-year cane, all other growths being cut off. The selected canes are cut back to from six to 10 buds and tied to the wires. When the buds grow the shoots are allowed to droop where they will.

Pruning of grape vines should be done in late February or very early in March. This is before the sap runs, so that the plants will not "bleed." If the vine is permitted to "bleed" its vitality will be lowered along with its ability to produce good grapes.

BROWN BATTER STAR OF YEAR

Vernon Stephens Gets His Thirteenth Homer; Cards Lose, So Do Reds

BY JOHN CASHMAN

NEW YORK, July 16—The St. Louis Browns, who look forward to grabbing the American League pennant with the aid of ex-Dodgers' pitcher Bobo Newsom are by no means overlooking the talent they already have. Chief among the Brownies' aspirants to high honors is Vernon Stephens, who has become one of the most dangerous men in the league at the plate, and yesterday swatted out his thirteenth homer of the season.

Stephens' circuit clout came in the fourth inning of the Brownies-Cleveland Indians fray with one aboard, and was directly responsible for the St. Louis victory. Steve Sundra allowed only four hits in pitching his seventh victory of the season, while veteran Jim Bagby suffered his fifth straight loss and his ninth of the season.

Ken Keltner accounted for the Indians' single tally with a homer in the fifth.

The Washington Senators grabbed second place in the American League after defeating the Boston Red Sox last night, 4 to 3. Their move upward was gained also at the expense of the Detroit Tigers who slipped to third place after losing to the Chicago White Sox last night, 7 to 4.

The Senators won on Vernon's run in the eighth when a triple smacked against the right field wall broke a 3 to 3 tie.

Orval Grove, 24-year-old White Sox righthander, scored his eighth straight win in the contest with Detroit and for six innings allowed the Tigers only one safety.

In the National League the leading St. Louis Cardinals were tripped on their way to pennant play last night by the Pittsburgh Pirates in a 4 to 3 victory. Maurice Van Robays, recalled from Toronto by the Pirates, led the Buccaneers at bat with three hits. hits.

At Cincinnati, the Chicago Cubs continued to make their jaunt a winning one last night by defeating the Reds 8 to 0. Hi Bithorn, a nine-game winner for the Cubs last season, pegged his 1943 victory string up to 10 with last night's match.

New York's Giants took a drubbing from the revised Philadelphia Phillies' club last night, 9 to 1. In the opener of a five-game series, Carl Fischer was knocked out of the box by the Phils in the first frame with a four-run spurt. Van Mungo and Harry Feldman finished the hurling stint for the Giants.

RED BIRDS AND MILLERS DIVIDE IN DOUBLE BILL

By International News Service

Both doubleheaders that were played in the Association yesterday were divided.

The Columbus Red Birds took the first game of their twin bill with the Minneapolis Millers to the tune of 9 to 5, but the visitors from the west turned the tables in the second 10 inning fray 3 to 1. Preacher Roe was credited with the first win, Left Lefebvre in the second. This gave the Millers a 3 to 1 edge in the present series.

In the other double contest, Toledo took the first game 2 to 0 but St. Paul came to the fore in the second tilt and took it at the close margin of 5 to 4.

Meanwhile, the Milwaukee Brewers were holding first place in the league standings by three percentage points. The Brewers battled a 3 to 3 tie with the Louisville Colonels, attempting to break the tieup for sixteen innings but were stopped by the curfew baseball law.

Indianapolis today prepared to start a crucial five game series with the Brewers after taking a 7 to 0 victory from the Kansas City Blues last night.

TROUBLE FOR NERO

It was just an offhand guess but Archie, Nero Wolfe's legman estimated he knew some 2000 women. In the "Case of the Vacant Blonde," the Nero Wolfe adventure to be heard Monday, July 19, at 8:30 p. m. over the Blue Network, Archie meets Number 2001.

Number 2001 is blonde and beautiful and starts the meeting off with Archie by giving him a big kiss. Archie thought this all pretty wonderful until he discovered she was an amnesia victim and had mistaken him for another person. In an attempt to solve her identity, Archie brings the "vacant blonde" to detective Nero Wolfe. In checking police files, Nero finds Archie's Miss 2001 charged with murder.

The role of Detective Nero Wolfe is portrayed by Santos Ortega and the character "Archie" by Joe Julian. Hi Brown is producer of the mystery series based on the original novels and short stories written by Rex Stout.

ALL-GERSHWIN PROGRAM

Works of the late George Gershwin will make up the "Hour of Charm," when Phil Spitalny and his all-girl orchestra and chorus broadcast their weekly concert on Sunday, July 25, at 10 p. m., over Station WLW. "Rhapsody in Blue," featuring the choir and orchestra, is the opener, followed by Evelyn's violin solo, "The Man I Love." Other Gershwin selections to be heard include "Song of the Flame," by the orchestra; "Love Walked In," sung by the soprano Vivien; "Summertime," by the choir; "Lady Be Good," in an arrangement for vocal trio and orchestra; and "Somebody Loves Me," featuring the contralto Maxine. The hymn of the evening is "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," sung for the men at Fort Eustis, Va., and the Adjutant General's School at Fort Washington, Md.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN

Victor Romano, who fought with the Royal Canadian Air Force in the Battle of Britain, and now is a first class private in the United States Army, will be the central figure in the "Service Story of the Week," on "Salute to Youth" on Tuesday, July 20, at 7:30 p. m., over Station WCOL. Romano, who will appear in person, is one of three brothers who joined the RCAF shortly after the war started. In the Battle of Britain, his brothers were killed, and he was wounded and given an honorable discharge after shooting down 11 Nazi planes and getting partial credit for 29 others. Though discharged for disability, he persuaded his American draft board to accept him for limited service, and now is back in uniform. Perry Keller, designer of the new channel tread airplane tire, is the week's honored guest from the production front. For the musical portion of the program, Raymond Paige will conduct his "Young Americans" in "Wang Wang Blues," "You'll Never Know" and Sarasate's "Gypsy Melodies." Nadine Conner, Metropolitan Opera soprano, sings "There'll Soon Be a Rainbow" and "The March of the Grenadiers."

RADIO NEWS NOTES

There'll be a new stooge on the Eddie Cantor "Time to Smile" program over NBC Wednesday nights when the pop-eyed comedian returns to the microphone this Fall. She is Vera Vague, familiar to dialers as the zaniest of the females on the air. Cantor is currently in New York, was a guest on Phil Baker's "Take It Or Leave It" program over CBS last Sunday and when not visiting friends or the showshops he is seeking additional talent. He plans to make his program bigger, brighter and better than ever in the coming season.

Latest radioite to get a bid from the film factories is pretty Vicki Vola, known to dialers as Miss Miller on "Mr. District Attorney" over NBC Wednesday nights. Vicki, though, has so many radio commitments in the east that it is problematical whether she can accept any of the contracts offered.

Walnut School Laboratory Stock Room Damaged By Fire

BOY DISCOVERS FLAMES, CALLS CITY FIREMEN

Loss Believed Heavy, But Total Undetermined By Bennett

BUILDING NOT IN DANGER

Fireproof Construction Confines Blaze To Single Room

Walnut township school's chemistry and physics laboratory stock room was wrecked by fire Thursday night. Extent of the loss has not yet been determined.

Carl D. Bennett, superintendent of the school, said that a check of the department's inventory would be made to determine just how much of the laboratory's equipment might have been destroyed. Because the fire hit during vacation season there was much valuable apparatus in the storage room. Mr. Bennett declined to make an estimate on loss until the inventory is taken with assistance of Judson H. Lanman, the school's principal and chemistry and physics instructor.

The fire was discovered at 10 p. m. by a youth named Leonard who was bicycling past the building. He saw smoke coming from a ventilator. The youth went to a nearby residence where the Circleville fire department was called, Fire Chief Talmer Wise and Fireman Robert Wolf driving the rural truck to the school building. Ashville fire department was also called.

One Room Damaged

Chief Wise said that because the Walnut school building had been fireproofed throughout the flames were confined to the storage room, except for some fire which broke through into the attic. The attic is also fireproof, so danger of the fire getting into other parts of the building was minimized.

The door of the storage room was kept closed, confining the blaze.

The fire took on Fourth of July aspects at times when chemicals caught fire or exploded. All chemicals used in the laboratory being destroyed. Some of these will be difficult to replace next Fall, as will some of the apparatus burned. Several pieces of more valuable apparatus including the school's microscope remained in the chemistry laboratory, escaping the flames.

Firemen On Job

Because the building was locked, firemen made their way to the storage room up the outside of the building, placing a ladder there. Water pumped from the rural truck and water thrown by hose available at the school finally halted the flames.

Numerous volunteers joined in the fire department's fight against the flames, Police Chief W. F. McCrady and Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious appearing at the building shortly after the firemen arrived there. Several members of the auxiliary fire department and the sheriff's auxiliary unit were also on hand.

Origin of the fire is not known. No one had been in the storage room.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of Pickaway county schools, who went to the scene Thursday night, said that any one of several things might have started the blaze. Action in phosphorus or other chemicals in the storeroom might have caused fire to break out, the bright sun shining through the window might have been the cause, or action by some other combustible chemicals may have been the cause.

The storeroom and its contents are covered by insurance.

LOCAL BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE FOR HALF YEAR

Pickaway county business, with sales tax revenues as a barometer, increased by 5.3 percent in the first six months of 1943 over the first half of 1942. Total receipts, as reported by the office of Treasurer R. G. Colville, amounted to $39,900.07, compared with $37,895.77.

The Pickaway county average was well above the state figure, a survey of Ohio showing the increase to be only 1.6 percent. Total of receipts for Ohio during the six month period was $27,164,808.55 compared with $26,749,091 last year.

Of seven of the leading counties in the state, all of which are engaged in war time production, two showed losses when compared with last year. Hamilton county lost 3.7 percent and Cuyahoga county lost 1.4 percent.

Nearly all counties in south central Ohio reflected increases during the six month period.

Reports submitted to the state treasurer's office included; Madison, up 9.7 percent; Perry, up 4 percent; Ross, up 6.5 percent; Clinton, up 11.2 percent; Fairfield, up 4.7 percent; Fayette, up 17.6 percent; Highland, up 8.4 percent; Hocking, down 8.5 percent; Vinton, down 9.1 percent.

DAVIS SPEAKS, ROTARIANS MAKE RULES REVISION

Circleville Rotarians conducted a business session Thursday with revisions being made in constitution and by-laws. It was also announced that Charles Evans, district governor, will appear here July 29 as club speaker.

The club was informed by James I. Smith of the Esmeralda Canning Co. that the tomato and cabbage crops in northwestern Ohio are reduced by two-thirds this year because of weather and other conditions. He also voiced an appeal for more help at his canning plant during the corn packing season.

Ray W. Davis, Circleville, spoke Thursday on the need for more interest in government affairs.

MARKET BUREAU URGES CANNING WINTER'S FOOD

Housewives were urged again Friday by the Ohio Bureau of Markets of the Ohio Department of Agriculture to take advantage of vegetables and fruits in their seasons by canning them to augment their Winter supply.

Excessive wet weather and poor pollination are responsible for poor yields of many fruits and quality has been lowered by inability of growers to follow regular spray programs, State Agriculture Director John T. Brown reported.

The commercial pack of red sour cherries in Ohio will be the lightest in history while red and black raspberries have fallen far below early expectations, he said. On the other hand, Ohio markets are now well supplied with early transparent apples and later Summer variety of apples will be available in quantities.

Vegetables were hampered not only by unfavorable weather but also by insufficient labor for normal planting, Brown pointed out, in reporting that the quantity of peas processed by Ohio plants was the shortest in years while early tomatoes in southern Ohio are plentiful and excellent in quality.

"The early potato crop is reasonably good but prospects for later potatoes in Ohio are discouraging," he said. "Other root crops particularly carrots, should be plentiful at least through the Summer."

COFFEE SOON TO BE TAKEN OFF RATION LIST

OPA expects to announce soon that all restrictions on sale of coffee may be lifted on or before August 11, unless Axis submarine warfare breaks out anew, cutting into supplies now growing sky high.

Hints that the order may be voiced soon came from Washington Friday when OPA officials said the supply now is as good as it was before the war. President Roosevelt declared last week that the day is not far away when coffee and sugar will both be removed from the ration list.

OPA said that sugar is not so plentiful as coffee, and added that elimination of sugar from rationing is not so near as coffee.

When coffee rationing was put into effect the OPA limit was one pound for each person every five weeks. As submarines made shipping more difficult the amount was spread over a six-week period, but in recent months the improving supply situation has permitted increase of the ration. The latest revision permits use of one pound of coffee in three weeks from July 22 to August 11.
